

ITRockstars

This week, you are battling... the teachers!

<input type="checkbox"/>	Home	Away	Start	End
<input type="checkbox"/>	Teachers	0	Rockjettors	20 Apr 20, 09:00

I would like to see everyone logging in and playing for at least 10 minutes each day.

Daily Lessons

For the next 5 days, please have a go at accessing some of the great online content which has been created for maths. There are a few choices; try at least one of them and let me know what you liked/preferred on Class Dojo. I recommend:

- White Rose Maths <https://whiterosemaths.com/homelearning/year-6/>

This week, the lessons are focusing on angles (specifically, opposite angles). There are also two previous weeks of work posted on their website. One of these weeks looks at scale factors – this is something we began to look at in lessons (ratios) but did not get the chance to finish due to school having to close so it might be useful to take a look at these resources.

- BBC Bitesize <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize>

Year 6/ P7 lessons
Monday 20 April - Friday 24 April
Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
English To identify and use nouns and pronouns	English To understand verbs and modal verbs	English To understand verbs and passive verbs	English Using adjectives for more descriptive writing	English Reading lesson: To Be a Cat by Matt Haig
Maths Rounding numbers	Maths Rounding decimals	Maths Negative numbers	Maths Add and subtract integers	Maths Challenge of the week
History Who were the Ancient Egyptians?	Geography Introduction to settlements	Science The solar system	Music Singing with feeling	Wellbeing Starting Secondary School

Find all this content and more at: bbc.co.uk/bitesize/dailylessons

Starting today (Monday 20th April), the BBC are producing online lessons for all subjects including Maths. For those of you who find it hard to access work on a computer, this could be a good option the lessons can be accessed on the television by pressing the red button whilst watching the BBC.